DEATH OF MRS. A. W. SHELTON

End Came Quietly in Dallas Sanitarium Last Night—Remains Brought Home for Burial.

News was received here this morning that Mrs. A. W. Shelton, whose home was in the bottom, passed away at the Baptist sanitarium in Dallas at 1 o'clock this morning. On account of an illness of several months' duration Mrs. Shelton had been carried to Dallas with the hope that medical skill might bring relief, but the effort proved in vain.

Mrs. Shelton was aged 60 years, and was known throughout this section, as she was born and reared on the family plantation in the bottom and was a member of one of the oldest and most respected families in the county.

She is survived by her husband, two sisters, Miss Olivia Newsome and Mrs. T. T. Goodwin, and a brother, R. S. Newsome, and a host of friends. The remains arrived this afternoon on the 4:30 train, and the funeral will take place from her late home at 10 o'clock in the morning, interment following in the Newsome family burying ground.

Mrs. Batte's Residence Completed.

Jesse Gammon has just completed an elegant two-story residence in the western part of town for Mrs. Louis Batte. The home is of modern architecture and is a beautiful one, both exterior and interior.

FOOTBALL.

The big season ends tomorrow with the Army-Navy clash.

It costs more than $9800 to keep a big college team properly armored for the game of football.

Quarterback has given more trouble to the Yale coaches this season than any other position on the team.

Brickley, the star of the Harvard-Princeton game, is a product of the Everett (Mass.) high school. He has a younger brother who is now training at the same school for Harvard.

Walter Howard McGay has been elected captain of the Amherst football eleven for next year. He played on the varsity for two years at fullback and has been president of his
